

CONFIDENCE IN OUR ACTIONS

Crescent Point

SINCE 2001, CRESCENT POINT HAS SUCCESSFULLY IMPLEMENTED A THREE-PART BUSINESS STRATEGY TO DRIVE SHAREHOLDER GROWTH IN RESERVES, PRODUCTION AND CASH FLOW. FIRST, WE ACQUIRE HIGH-QUALITY, LARGE RESOURCE-IN-PLACE ASSETS. SECOND, WE DEVELOP AND EXPLOIT THESE ASSETS THROUGH INFILL DRILLING, PRODUCTION OPTIMIZATION AND WATER FLOOD IMPLEMENTATION. AND THIRD, WE MANAGE RISK BY MAINTAINING A CONSERVATIVE COMMODITY HEDGING PROGRAM AND AN EXCELLENT BALANCE SHEET.

OUR DISCIPLINE IN ADHERING TO THE BUSINESS PLAN HAS PRODUCED GROWTH IN NET ASSET VALUE PER SHARE, RESERVES, PRODUCTION AND CASH FLOW FOR NINE YEARS IN A ROW.

Since Crescent Point began as a junior exploration and production company in 2001, we've gone through some changes. In 2003, we became an income trust. Then, in July 2009, we converted to a dividend-paying corporation and continue to operate as one today. One thing that's never changed is our business strategy.

A large part of our strategy is to acquire high-quality, large resource-in-place assets to then develop and exploit. Crescent Point has focused its acquisition efforts in core areas in southern Saskatchewan and central and southern Alberta. The company is also actively pursuing its business strategy in emerging plays, such as the Beaverhill Lake light oil resource play in Alberta and Bakken/Three Forks in the United States. Our focused approach has resulted in few changes to the company's core area map, despite having grown from 275 boe/d in 2001 to an expected 2011 exit rate of 77,500 boe/day.

Crescent Point has a dominant position in two of the largest light and medium oil pools ever discovered in western Canada: the Lower Shaunavon in southwest Saskatchewan and the Bakken in southeast Saskatchewan. Our drilling inventory in these two plays alone includes more than 5,000 low-risk locations and the potential to add more than 500 million barrels of reserves.

CRESCENT POINT HAS THE KEY ATTRIBUTES THAT MAKE FOR A SUCCESSFUL OIL AND GAS COMPANY.

We have a proven and experienced management team. We maintain a strong balance sheet and a risk management program that allow us to maintain dividends through commodity cycles. And our reserve base is second to none — a prudent balance of high-growth resource play assets and stable, predictable low-decline conventional assets.

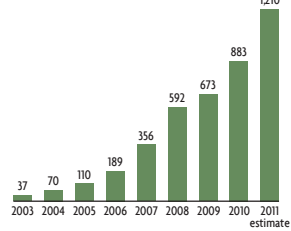

With a proven track record behind us and high-quality assets moving us forward, we believe Crescent Point is just getting started.
